

BOLDLY ABDUCTED HIS BETTER HALF

Arai, a Japanese hackdriver, and Tanagawa, a countryman, were taken to the police station yesterday on a charge of kidnapping, a crime which took place in broad daylight. Aki, a Japanese maiden, who was abducted, is again safe in charge of her protector, Mrs. O. H. Gulick.

Tanagawa, who is the woman's husband, had trouble with her some time ago. She was cruelly treated and she ran away from him and was given protection by Mrs. Gulick. The woman got employment at the Castle Home during the day hours.

Monday night Tanagawa sought Aki and endeavored to have her accompany him, but met with a refusal. Tanagawa remained outside in a hack until about 6 o'clock yesterday morning. When Aki came forth to go to her work Tanagawa seized her, placed her in the hack and both were driven away by Arai. Mrs. Gulick complained to the police and Officer Toma Abe located Aki and Tanagawa in a Japanese lodging house room on Beretania street near River.

RAISED UPROAR IN THE STATION

Two excited, jabbering Chinese were marched into the Police Station yesterday afternoon by Officer Keanini, and for fifteen minutes afterward the clerk's office was in an uproar, celestial language flying about in a way absolutely unintelligible to any of the officers. When the two had calmed down, it was learned that the most voluble Chinaman was accused of being a lunatic.

"He come in my store on Beretania street," said Sing Chung, "take my little girl and throw her around. He throw boxes all over store too. He pupule." Ah Fan sputtered a denial, but the more he talked the more convinced were the officers that he was crazy, and he was sent to the "pen."
